

Jigsy to resell domains and e-mail from ResellerClub

PARSVILLE, BC – June 17, 2010 – Jigsy.com, a fully hosted on-line website builder, and ResellerClub, a leading web services provider, today announced a new partnership. ResellerClub's e-mail and domain API system provides web hosting companies and Internet service providers an easy and simple way to integrate domain name registration, domain name hosting and e-mail hosting. Jigsy offers an easy way to use the web site builder which quickly allows users to create, setup and maintain a website.

"We have been getting numerous requests from users for the ability to host e-mail, and we are pleased to be able to include e-mail hosting with this new release of Jigsy," says Jerrett Taylor, Lead of Development for Jigsy. "Now more than ever Jigsy is positioned to be the single source for businesses to design, build and maintain their web presence," continues Taylor.

"Jigsy is a promising web services company and we're extremely excited with this association. Our Email hosting services are top of the line and I'm sure they will be a great addition to their existing product line," said Shridhar Luthria, Manager of Channel Development – ResellerClub.

New and existing Jigsy members can now add e-mail hosting to any of the paid plans for $10 a year per domain name. Domain names can be purchased for the starting price of $10 per year.
